

Algebra 2 and Business/Consumer Math: Jon Brasher received his Bachelor's degree in Hospital Administration/Accounting in 1985 and his MBA/International Business in 1987. Jon worked as a Cost Accountant for EAMC and Fruedenberg-NOK. As Controller for RPS, a Belgian plastics company with sales in France, Colombia, and Southeast Asia, he was responsible for all accounting functions. Jon is currently President and CTO of Ovante, LLC, a Tallahassee based research & development company.

Algebra 1 and Geometry: Lena Sollie- is wife to Glenn and mom to Terri(sophomore at AU), Zachary (12th grade), Olivia(10th grade) and Micah(8th grade). I have been home-educating my children for a total of 14 years. I began my education at AU in Engineering and ended up in Family and Child Development with many years of hands-on, practical experience. I have always loved math and have been tutoring/teaching since I was in 9th grade. I also love teens. I hope my combined love for math and teens will be a very positive classroom experience for your child(ren).

Anatomy: Julia Smith, formerly homeschooled from birth through twelfth grade, has fond memories of blowing up science experiments on her back porch with her four brothers. Two years ago, Julia graduated with a bachelor of science from Auburn University School of Nursing as their top graduate and became a registered nurse. On a more exciting note, Julia is married to the most amazing man in the whole world, Grady Smith, Associate Pastor of Internationals at Lakeview. Last year, God's perfect timing brought their son, Grady Jeremiah Smith, into the world three months and one week early. He is now a bubbly six month old. In her Anatomy class, Julia covers the material in Jay Wile's text, The Human Body: Fearfully and Wonderfully Made. She explores through lecture, dissection, discussion and hands on activities the eleven systems of the human body. She hopes learning about the human body causes students to marvel at God's design and care for their own bodies as stewards of His amazing creation.

Biology: Dr. Toby Hoover is a veterinarian, with experience in private veterinary practice, university teaching and missions. He graduated from Oklahoma State University with B.S. and D.V.M. degrees and later did graduate work that led to an M.S. degree from Cornell University. He served on the veterinary teaching faculties of the University of Missouri-Columbia as an ambulatory clinician, and at Auburn University as Head of the Field Services Unit for the Large Animal Clinic. While on sabbatical leave from AU in 1983 he and his family served in Bolivia with Christian Veterinary Mission, then returned later to that country and served for twenty years as a Veterinary Missionary/Church Planter with the International Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. Now retired from the IMB/SBC the Hoovers live in Opelika and are members of the Opelika First Baptist Church, where they are actively involved in teaching RAs and GAs. They have three daughters, Jennifer Anne Hoover Cordoba, Deborah Leigh Hoover Hupfer, and Jhenny Hoover Gilliam. Toby's primary goal in biology class is to help your sons and daughters see God's signature in His creation that is all around us, and the second goal is to teach them biological processes and facts related to plants and animals within God's creation.

Chemistry: Debbie Reeves: B.S. Chemical Engineering, Clemson University, 1986; M.S. Chemical Engineering, Georgia Tech, 1988 ; Ph.D. Chemical Engineering, Georgia Tech, 1991.

Debbie is the mother of six children ages 3 to 19 and has been homeschooling for 15 years. Her eldest son was homeschooled through high school and is now a sophomore at Auburn University. She has taught her children all subjects and particularly enjoys teaching math and chemistry as keys to understand God's complex design of the world around us. She also delights in helping students improve their college entrance exam scores so that they can pursue the college of their choice. Debbie is the wife of Stan Reeves, a professor of Electrical & Computer Engineering at Auburn University and an elder at Grace Heritage Church.

Driver's Education: Diana Hung: Graduate of Liberty University a long time ago:) Wife to wonderful husband John, a college professor. Mom to 3 fantastic grown children. Successfully home schooled for over 10 years and taught many classes through Lakeview School. In Driver's Ed, she makes the class meaningful and realistic to daily life with hands on activities. There are many projects and questions to be researched. She has taught this class since 2001. In her free time, she enjoys preschool activities (teach WOW Wednesdays, Sunday School and baby sit), reading and paper crafting.

Economics: Rob Martin. Rob grew up in Wetumpka, Alabama and enrolled as a freshman at Auburn University in 1960. Over the next 5 years he completed his BS and MS in Agricultural Economics. Following his college years at Auburn, he was employed for 12 years by Economic Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. His time with USDA was spent at the University of Georgia and University of Illinois. He enrolled in the University of Illinois Graduate School in 1968, and completed his Ph.D. in 1974. In 1977, he returned to Auburn University in Agricultural Economics and taught several courses including Farm Management until his retirement from Auburn University in 2000. While a freshman in college he met Betty Summerlin and they were married before he began his sophomore year. They served four months as missionaries in Venezuela in 2000, and Rob served as Director of Internationals Ministry at Lakeview Baptist Church from 2003 to 2007. He will make a valuable contribution to the students who choose to take Economics.

Literature/Writing (grades 7-9): Laura Webb was home-schooled from the 3rd to the 12th grade. She graduated from Auburn University with B.A. in English in 2003. She is married to Kevin and is the proud mother of two boys, ages 2 and 4. Before coming home to be a full time homemaker, Laura worked as a private tutor for 5 years teaching both American and international students. She is passionate about reading and writing and still does both (on purpose!) in her spare time.

Literature/Writing (grades 10-12): Dr. Deborah Stabler and Kristin Vordenbaum –Deborah Stabler graduated from Troy University with a BA in English, from the University of Alabama with an MA in English, and from Auburn University with an Ed.D. in Curriculum and Teaching/English Education. For 12 years she worked with the Alabama Cooperative Extension Service as an associate professor/curriculum specialist before starting an educational consulting business through which she provides editing and curriculum writing services. She and her husband, Steve, graduated their daughter, Della, from Lakeview Christian School in 2008. She is the coordinator of the Lakeview Home School Ministry, and has taught composition, research writing, and literature classes at Lakeview Christian School. In the writing component of the literature class, Deborah focuses on helping the students read and respond to good literature critically and thoughtfully through class discussion, short assignments and formal essays. The writing skills they develop will help them succeed in English classes at the college level.

Kristin Vordenbaum received her bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Auburn University in December of 1980. She received her Masters of Education degree from Auburn in August of 1984. She taught in the Phenix City school system from January 1981-May 1985. She then taught in the Auburn City schools from August 1985-May 1989. She is married and has 4 children, ages: college senior, college sophomore, 11th grade, and 3rd grade. She and her husband, Tim, graduated both of their daughters from Lakeview Christian School, which brings the total to 16+ years of home schooling. Kristin has taught and assisted with a variety of classes at Lakeview over the years. She and Deborah Stabler taught this literature class three years ago and look forward to challenging their students to new ways of both reading and writing about various genres of literature

Spanish 1 and 2: Cindy Hoover Cindy and her husband Toby are members of Opelika First Baptist Church. In 1988 they were commissioned as missionaries with the International Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. Following language school in Costa Rica they served in Bolivia, South America for twenty years. Cindy's time in Bolivia has given her a love for the Spanish language and those who speak it. She has taught Spanish I and II at Lakeview since 2008 and now also teaches Preschool Spanish for the Bright Beginnings Program at Opelika First. She includes some cultural activities in the classroom and provides an opportunity to practice the language skills by taking the class to lunch in a local Mexican restaurant. Language learning is a challenge, but she strives to make it an enjoyable challenge.

Teenpact: Della Stabler is a senior in Electrical Engineering at Auburn University. She graduated from Southern Union in 2010 with an Associate in Science Degree. She graduated from Lakeview Christian School in 2008. She attended TeenPact, staffed as a counselor for three years, helped coordinate the event for two years, and has taught the prep-class for six years.

Thinking Like a Christian: John Dale Rector Associate Pastor, Minister of Congregational Care at Lakeview Baptist Church. John Dale is a native of Attalla, Alabama. He joined Lakeview in 1980 and served as Lakeview's pianist prior to receiving his undergraduate degree from Auburn University.
